

BRITISH SCHOOL OF AVIATION - UK.147.0123

EASA PART 66 SHORT COURSES AND EXAMINATIONS

INSTRUCTIONS TO ENQUIRING CANDIDATES

Warning: These courses are being offered only to aircraft mechanics and technicians who wish to upgrade their existing qualifications. Attending these modular revision training courses do not constitute as attending a fulltime Part 147 Basic Course

- 1) This EASA Part 66 short course training programme is being offered by British School of Aviation in partnership with QCM. QCM is based in Switzerland and is an EASA Approved Part 147- Approval Number is CH.147.0012
- 2) Course starts when candidate registers and pays for the material/training and examination. Please see list of module short courses and examinations on BSA website.
- 3) On receipt of payment, candidate will be provided with a password to access the module course material on line. Candidate will start studying the material in the own time. The training material are being offered as e-books. Candidates can purchase the printed versions but this will be at a higher price.
- 4) Candidate will attend the module short course revision programme and then sit for the examination as per published training and examination programme.
- 5) BSA has published a full programme on its website which gives the detail such as the dates for the specific modular revision course and the respective examinations.
- 6) All prospective attendees to these courses MUST register in advance and complete the study time prior being allowed to attend the revision course and sitting for the Part 66 examinations.
- 7) All payment must be made via credit card